Fun and Innovative PR Campaigns that Made Headlines

In the ever-evolving world of public relations, it's not enough to simply get your message out there - you've got to captivate your audience, turn heads, and make waves. In this edition, we're bringing you three standout PR campaigns from 2022 that did exactly that. Each one not only achieved their goals, but also engaged their audiences in fun and innovative ways. Let's dive in!

Airbnb.org brings Art to live

PR Lion in Gold
Category: Creative

Performance PR Campaign
Agency: Leo Burnett, Chicago (USA)
Client: Art Institute of Chicago
Product: Art exhibition
Campaign: Van Gogh BnB
Concept: To draw attention to the major exhibition of Vincent van Gogh at the Art Institute Of Chicago, the famous painting "The Bedroom" was recreated and offered as accommodation on the accommodation platform Airbnb. Interested parties could thus live in a certain way in a painting by Van Gogh. The coverage was correspondingly great, the exhibition an even greater success than it would have been anyway.

Penguin Random House's Unburnable Book

In response to increasing book bans, Penguin Random House released an "unburnable" copy of Margaret Atwood's acclaimed novel, The Handmaid's Tale. Designed with heat shield foil pages, nickel wire binding, and high-temperature adhesives, this unique campaign stood as a symbol for the freedom of expression. The book was auctioned off at Sotheby's with proceeds going to PEN America, an organization dedicated to protecting free speech.

Iceland's Out-Horse Your Email Campaign

Iceland's tourism board used an unconventional approach to attract tourists in their "Out-Horse Your Email"

campaign. They built a giant working keyboard big enough to hold a horse, and taught the horses to "handle" tourists' emails. This lighthearted and memorable campaign was aimed at encouraging people to disconnect from work and enjoy their vacation in Iceland.
